

Everyone got a chance to shine at Beacon Street's annual Fall Fun-Raiser Nov. 3, from singing songs with Barb and Maria, to catching a "wave" from the "light mime", to sharing sparkling conversation over refreshments.

Audience members also found themselves tossing glowing balls, putting on yellow gloves and dancing. Nearly 50 people walked away with fine door prizes, ranging from a beautiful floral Santa to a case of motor oil. And four lucky raffle winners became the new owners of a camera, a beautifully illuminated family bible, and two sets of theater tickets.

Great food and a raffle followed the program, while Allen Stay provided juggling lessons for the kids in the corner of the gym at Regina High School.

To all who helped us polish the event, we say thanks. You keep lighting the way for Good News to meet good neighbors.

Bob, a prodigal father, reflects on his two sons (top left). Maria affirms the audience (top right). Barb sings of candle lighting and faithful people (right). Below, participants check out the reception goodies (left). A young audience member catches the spirit of the "light mime" (right).

